

Press release 2017_01

Coburg, 1st February 2017

Dietze+Schell Group expands leading position in the market with acquisition of Reimotec

Coburg - The Dietze+Schell Group is expanding further. As from 1st February 2017 the Reifenhäuser Group and Dietze+Schell consolidate their activities in the fields of application monofilament, strapping and artificial turf. Reifenhäuser transfers both companies Reimotec Maschinen- und Anlagenbau in Lampertheim/ Germany and Reimotec Winding Technology in Sumirago/ Italy to the company in Coburg.

After successful acquisition and incorporation of Sima srl. in 2013 and Techno Plastic srl. in 2015 into the group of companies, this latest acquisition represents the consequent continuation of the corporate strategy to strengthen the leading position in the field of extrusion and to develop new customer segments.

This acquisition strengthens the group as turnkey supplier in the sector of monofilament for artificial turf and concrete reinforcement as well as strapping and tapes.

The Dietze+Schell Group with headquarters in Coburg (Upper Franconia) is the world's leading manufacturer of winding, texturizing, slitting and extrusion lines for the application fields glass fiber, carbon, technical yarns and tapes as well as artificial turf and strapping.

With production sites in Germany, Italy, USA and Czech Republic the medium-sized group of companies currently has 300 employees and an annual turnover of more than 100 million EURO.

With an export rate of more than 80%, customers all over the world appreciate the products and the capacity for innovation of the group.

Publication free of charge, please forward file copy to Mrs Daniela Tzanetis